For inquiries, please contact Ms. Cheng Chuen Woon, social worker Miss Chan Wai Han, or Mr. Fong Yuk Lun.

3. Beware of Phone Scams

Recently, some parents have been scammed by impersonators posing as school teachers over the phone, resulting in financial losses. According to our school's policy and procedures for collecting fees, we will first issue an electronic notice via the E-Class online platform before any charge. Parents must sign a reply slip, and payment can only be made via the designated electronic payment method registered with the school. School staff will never inform parents of charges via phone, email, or text message. If parents receive any unclear payment notifications claiming to be from the school, please call 2464 5220 to inquire and confirm with the school office to avoid being scammed.

Best Regards,
